

NGO Support Services

Providing programme and financial management so you can focus on making the world a better place

Aevo Consulting Group

At Aevo Consulting Group, we believe in excellence and this value underpins all that we do. Our core focus is providing specialist financial-modelling services. We've helped JSE listed companies, parastatals and local & national government departments make informed decisions with flexible and robust tools. We have also helped Non-governmental organisations and professional bodies streamline their services, monitor and control budgets and spending, manage projects and programmes and develop reporting systems to ensure long-term success.

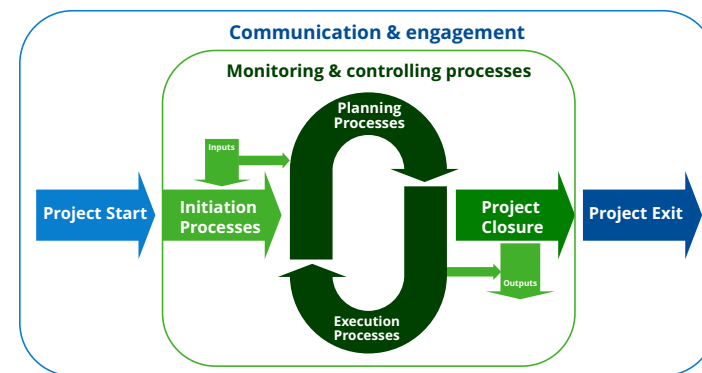

With a multi-disciplinary advisory team in place, a long history of successful projects and close links to a range of strategic network partners, our offerings are diversifying more widely into the management consulting arena. We are therefore able to offer a range of complimentary services, from business analytics, modelling and reporting, change leadership, human resources, dispute resolution, financial oversight and accounting, project administration to engineering and technical services and support.

Project Management Services

Aevo Consulting Group (Pty) Ltd has a range of project and programme management resources available to provide specialist management services. Following tried-and-tested methodologies aligned to the Project Management Body of Knowledge but with enough experience to adapt to real-world complexity; each project is considered different and handled as such. Our general approach considers the full life-cycle of any project or programme, which for most NGOs means multiple projects running concurrently. We are collaborative and consultative, focusing on a clear understanding of the scope, clarifying expectations upfront and proceeding with the effective management processes and performance management.

Financial Management Services

The same is true of Financial requirements. The NGO sector generally relies on strict cost control and managing budgets in line with donor requirements and reporting. Our experience suggests that many managers don't have the time to manage their budgets effectively or haven't been given systems that ensure they understand how to. We simplify the process and provide easily digestible dashboards to show what's happening with the money being spent. These can be Microsoft Excel based or online for wider consumption. Key to it all is simplicity, with the necessary rigour to ensure financial controls are in place and information is up-to-date. Where required, we also assist in developing the requisite policies and processes to ensure the system is maintained, and providing change management and training to ensure it is properly used.
